Acetylcholinesterase, choline acetyltransferase and glycine transporter-1 expression in the periaqueductal gray matter of rats with post-traumatic stress disorder. Post-traumatic stress disorder (PTSD) is a debilitating psychiatric disorder following a traumatic experience. The periaqueductal gray matter (PAG) plays an important role in the regulation of emotional and behavioral responses to threatening stimuli and represents a promising target for therapeutic intervention in PTSD. The changes in neurotransmission involving in the PAG could be associated with the pathology of PTSD. In this study, the mRNA and protein expression of acetylcholinesterase (AChE), choline acetyltransferase (ChAT) and glycine transporter-1 (GLYT1) in the PAG of rats with PTSD induced by electric foot-shock were examined to explore the mechanism of the changes in GABAergic and glutamatergic transmission in the PAG in PTSD. The results showed that rats with PTSD exhibited significant decrease in AChE and ChAT protein expressions in the PAG and no change in GLYT1 protein expression in the PAG. However, the mRNA expressions of AChE, ChAT and GLYT1 were not significantly changed in the PAG. Our study suggests that dysfunction of GABAergic transmission in the PAG may be one of the pathophysiological mechanisms in the PAG in PTSD. Hi my name is Sabrina Allen. Is there a way to do this Yes, this is a really good and easy reason to remove a program. But here is a slightly different way: 1) Restart your computer. 2) Right-click the folder with the installed programs, select Properties. Go to the "Details" tab and click on "Install and Remove Programs". 3) Click on "Uninstall", this is it. fffad4f19a
